

Workplace and Work Based Project Learner Classes

Workplace education classes are designed to assist business and industry by providing literacy skills to current employees. Work Based classes are non-credit, short-term classes designed to teach specific work based skills and competencies needed for employment.