Early Alert System Program (EASP)

Early Alert is a process created to improve connections between faculty and academic advisors. This purpose is to identify specific behaviors in students so that academic advisors can respond with the appropriate supports, resources, or opportunities. This process can be used to identify at-risk behaviors and academic excellence in students.